After fifteen years of education - teaching practice and management - Greet de Bruijn switched to coaching families and family businesses. She brings child and family, education and preventive care together, www.gotogdb.nl.

Greet, also co-owner of consultancy firm The Bitter End (www.thebitterend.nl), works as a relationship therapist in partnership with a psychologist's practice. She is trained in, among other things, existential psychotherapy, EFT relationship therapy, Spiral Dynamics and Contextual theory. For years she served as a Board member of the Association of Contextual Workers in the Netherlands and Belgium. She was Co-founder / Director of the Leren over Leven-OICS training institute until 2017 and is now a member of the Advisory Board.

Greet trains teams, works on projects and events, publishes and gives lectures. Always focused on improving the understanding among people. Together with Barbara R. Krasner, D. Schoeninger and K. Allen she published the book: Lifeblood of trust for real relationship, Listen to hear..find your voice..risk your truth. (ACCO, 2019)
